

New Jersey Legislative District 38

New Jersey Legislative District 38 had a total of 26,651 people living in “hard-to-count” (HTC) census tracts—or areas where a low percentage of residents completed and returned their most recent census questionnaire. This number equates to a total of 12% of the district's total population.

Total population	220,896
Population living in HTC areas	26,651
Percentage living in HTC areas	12%

The Census has low response rates in some areas and among certain population groups, who are at risk of being undercounted. Some of these hard-to-count population groups include certain racial and ethnic minority groups and children under age 5. For example, of all children under age 5 living in Legislative District 38, 14% lived in areas at greatest risk of undercount.
